Superintendent/President
Santa Monica College

Kathryn E. Jeffery, Ph.D., has served as Superintendent and President of Santa Monica College (SMC) since February 2016.

With over four decades of diverse higher education experience, Dr. Jeffery has successfully served in roles as college professor, academic and career counselor, and superintendent/president. (Bachelor of Music Education) with a major in piano and minor in voice from Oklahoma State University. A lover of the arts — especially music and theater — Dr. Jeffery is a talented classical pianist, vocalist, and plays the viola.

On the national level, Dr. Jeffery is on the Board of Directors for the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC), President's Round Table of African American CEOs.

Other national involvement includes being the co-chair of the AACC Commission on Student Success. Prior to serving as the CEO of Santa Monica Community College District, Dr. Jeffery served as President of Sacramento City College and Hennepin Technical College; Provost/Chief Campus Administrator of the College of Southern Nevada in Las Vegas; Vice President of Columbia College in the Yosemite Community College District; and Dean for Faculty and Staff Diversity/Development and Dean for Student Services at the California Community Colleges Chancellor's Office in Sacramento.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Hon. Alex Padilla
California Secretary of State

The Honorable Alex Padilla, currently California Secretary of State, is the proud son of immigrants. For 40 years, his father worked as a short-order cook and his mother cleaned houses. With their hard work as an inspiration and example, Padilla attended public schools in Los Angeles and went on to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), where he earned a degree in Mechanical Engineering.

In 1999, at 26, he was elected to the Los Angeles City Council to represent the community where he grew up. In 2001, his colleagues elected him to the first of three terms as Council President, the youngest member and first Latino to serve in this capacity.

In 2006, Padilla was elected to the first of two terms to the California State Senate. As a State Senator, he authored legislation to improve the community college transfer process — creating Associate Degrees for Transfer that would be accepted for full credit by the CSU System. Over the course of eight years, he successfully authored legislation on telecommunications, broadband deployment, energy and energy efficiency, grid modernization, education, job creation, environmental protection, food safety, seismic safety, and a number of other issues.

In 2014, Padilla was elected California Secretary of State, the first Latino to be elected to this constitutional office. In this role, he has committed to modernizing the office, increasing voter registration and participation, and protecting voting rights.

Last year, the California Motor Voter program was launched to automatically register eligible Californians to vote when they obtain or renew their state ID or driver's license. California Motor Voter registered 1 million new voters in its first year alone. Secretary Padilla also secured the passage of the Voter's Choice Act — landmark legislation allowing California counties to modernize elections by providing more options for when, where, and how voters can cast their ballots.

In 2018, Secretary Padilla oversaw the state's historic General Election where 64.5% of registered voters cast a ballot. This represented the highest turnout for a Gubernatorial Election since 1982. In March of 2019, California reached a record 20 million registered voters.

Secretary Padilla also serves as a board member of the Discovery Cube Los Angeles, is past President of the National Association of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials (NALEO), and a former member of the MIT Corporation (Board of Trustees). He and his wife Angela, a mental health advocate, live in the San Fernando Valley with their three sons.

GRADUATING STUDENT SPEAKER

Maya Thompson “Still I Rise” – Maya Angelou

Maya Thompson is Student Speaker for SMC’s 2019 Commencement. She decided to attend SMC after googling “Top 10 Community Colleges in California” — Santa Monica College was first on the list. “As a nontraditional student, it was difficult for me at first,” she said. “However, taking that initial step ultimately changed my life for the better.”

She joined the Black Collegians and Adelante programs, as well as Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society. “Getting involved with clubs on campus had a big impact on me,” said Maya. “The support I received from the Umoja Community and Adelante family gave me a solid foundation and provided me with a second place to call home.”

For the last year, Maya faced homelessness while pursuing her degree at SMC. “I’ve made the ultimate sacrifice to fulfill my goals. It was a long hard road, but I am proud of all my collegiate accomplishments,” she said. Maya recently received her second Academic Achievement Certificate from Black Collegians, and she was also awarded the Youth Empowerment Scholarship through the SMC Foundation.

She is very active in giving back to the community and donates time to various organizations. During the spring semester, Maya was a mentor in SMC’s Sister to Sister program at John Adams Middle School (JAMS). “Volunteerism is the backbone of my existence,” said Maya. “Giving back to others in need is an honor and a privilege that I gladly take on.”

Maya is a scholar in UCLA’s Center for Community College Partnerships Program, which assists students in transferring to UCLA. “The CCCP program has strengthened my academic knowledge, and given me the courage to obtain the unthinkable.”

Maya aspires to use her background and education to open a performing arts center for youth in the community. “I strive to motivate and educate our future leaders. My ultimate goal in life is to leave my mark on the world as an individual who was dedicated to influencing positive change through media, art, and entertainment.”

Maya graduates from SMC with an Associate degree in Social and Behavioral Sciences. She will transfer to the UCLA Department of World Arts and Cultures with a minor in Film Studies.

Noe Aguirre Volunteering for Transition

“My fellow Infantry and Department of Defense service members know me as Sergeant Aguirre, of the United States Marine Corps,” said combat action veteran Noe Aguirre, of Mission Hills. While deployed in Afghanistan, he began thinking about his future and his education. “I looked at a map and, since I know the area, I decided SMC was the place for me.”

Noe suffers from several combat-related disabilities, including post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) and a traumatic brain injury (TBI) caused by constant headbanging from his helmet during rides in the turret of gun trucks on rough roads. “Overcoming those hurdles means understanding yourself and your abilities in the present moment,” he said. SMC’s Veterans Resource Center and the Center for Students with Disabilities “opened my world. The people are amazing and understand what veterans go through.” He particularly credits speech therapist Stephanie Lewis for helping him.

“Remember to look at adversity as a rite of passage,” said Noe. “The experience will make you stronger and wiser.”

Noe is a volunteer and 1st Vice Commander at the American Legion Palisades Post 283, which has programs to help homeless, at-risk, and transitioning veterans connect to organizations and services that can help. He also volunteers at Meals on Wheels West, where he helped develop their Veteran’s HomeFront, a food program that feeds veterans of all ages. The Veterans Administration is expanding the vet-to-vet outreach program to other states.

Noe graduates from SMC with an Associate degree in General Science. He plans to transfer, focus on sports medicine, and work to develop a program for active infantry to minimize acute injuries during training and in the field.

Vanessa Dotson Dreams Do Come True

Vanessa Dotson — the first in her family to pursue a baccalaureate degree — says coming to SMC “was one of the best decisions I’ve made. It’s so open and really diverse.”

Raised in Fresno, Vanessa was accepted at CSU Northridge. When her mother could no longer support her financially, she went to live in Los Angeles with her then-estranged father. One day, she came home to find her bags packed at the door.

Putting her college dreams on hold, Vanessa spent the next four years homeless. Financial distress was just one hurdle. Half African American, half Latina, she also faced racial and sexual discrimination, but persevered. “My hunger for knowledge keeps me going.”

Vanessa was driving for Uber when a passenger, an SMC student, “told me why she liked SMC, so I decided to check it out.” Vanessa thrived. She got involved with the Black Collegians program, which helped her succeed in classes. The first woman in the SMC Investment club, she marketed and expanded the club’s membership. And she became a member of the Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society.

Bringing awareness of marginalized groups of people is one of Vanessa’s many goals. She is also a mentor to her many siblings and stepsiblings. “Life is unfolding, and we all have different obstacles to overcome,” she said, “but we make little successes every day.”

Vanessa graduates with an Associate degree in Liberal Arts. She will transfer as a Business major, and plans to continue studying through graduate school.

GRADUATING STUDENT PROFILES

Alex Boyd and Hermin Price Stronger Than Yesterday!

After extensive therapy for cranial nerve damage, Alex Boyd needed a change in her life. When a cousin told her about “this great college out in California, I looked up SMC and was captivated by the serene atmosphere of the campus,” she said, “so, I decided to look into the programs offered. My mom said, ‘You should go,’ and I did.”

Alex — this year’s Student Trustee on the SMC Board of Trustees and a former Associated Students Budget Director — moved from New York and enrolled at SMC in 2014. “I just walked onto campus and tried to crash a Black Collegians Program math class,” she said.

She was told to go talk to SMC counselor Sherri Bradford, who heads the Black Collegians Program, “so I went straight in. Ms. Bradford dropped everything and wrote a request to get me into the class. I have blossomed because of her and Black Collegians.”

There are a lot of things Alex used to take for granted, but “now I push harder, and there is a fight in me.” At SMC, Math Lab coordinator Judith Mosher helped Alex with the learning challenges she faced, and counselor Lisa Courto in the High Tech Training Center worked with Alex twice a week and made a real impact.

“When I was the AS Budget Director, I realized how much I loved being a voice and having the ability to make change and have an impact,” said Alex. “I have strong women in my life who refuse defeat and give love and support. This circle has allowed me to flourish and be the best I can be.”

Alex’s mother, Hermin Price, came for a visit a year after Alex moved to California, wondering why her “baby was so fixated with SMC.” She accompanied Alex to the campus one day, and that very day, became an SMC student herself.

Hermin, the mother of five and grandmother of six, was born in Kingston, Jamaica, where she attended school until she was 13. In 1970, she moved to Brooklyn, NY, and earned her GED around 2005.

Like her daughter, Hermin joined the Black Collegians Program. She also found help and support through the Learning Disabilities Program and the campus tutoring services.

Hermin loved all of her classes, but one of her favorites was her first one at SMC: English 85, Reading and Writing 1. “After being away from school, this class really helped me transition as an older adult on campus,” she said. “And I just love George Davison,” she said of her SMC English instructor.

“Now I’m a big fan of SMC, and talking to everyone about it,” said Hermin.

Four years later, Alex is graduating with an Associate degree in Communication and Hermin, in her late 60s, is graduating with an Associate degree and a certificate in Early Childhood Education.

Alex plans to transfer and major in Media Studies, and have a career in public policy in the health industry. Hermin plans to take some time off, then explore SMC’s Emeritus Program for older adults.

GRADUATING STUDENT PROFILES

Cristian Vasquez From DREAMer to Believer

Cristian Vasquez is the sports editor for SMC's student-operated newspaper, The Corsair. A DREAMer (an AB 540 student) whose parents brought him to the U.S. at age 4 from a small town in Oaxaca, Mexico, he is the first in his family to go to college.

A speaker of English, Spanish, and Zapotec, Cristian wants a career as a professional sports reporter. "I'm interested in eventually going into sports announcing," he said, "but first I plan to work as a sports writer on a professional level, and then an editor."

Cristian was accepted at Biola University after graduating from Hollywood High School, but could not afford to attend. So he turned to SMC. "I had heard great things about the campus from friends there," he said.

He credits journalism instructors Sharyn Obsatz and Ashanti Blaize-Hopkins for putting him on his path to sports journalism and helping him overcome the intimidation he felt when he first arrived at SMC. "And Darryl Keith-Ogata showed me how communication is more than just speech, and how much it impacts life," said Cristian. "And my counselor, Maibe Banuelos — what a fighter! I had an admission problem with my transfer school, and she fixed it."

"My family has been the best inspiration for my journey," said Cristian, who hopes to inspire his 14-year-old brother and 12-year-old sister. "It's especially important to my mom," he said. "She always saw me as a role model."

Cristian plans to transfer to CSU Long Beach and major in Journalism.

Xiaxia Zhang From Literature to Mathematics: Great Surprises!

Xiaxia Zhang fell in love with California while visiting from Wenzhou, China. When her friend suggested enrolling at SMC, Xiaxia made a plan. "This plan was simple: Ace all the classes and transfer as soon as I could with a degree in Economics. After all, my parents had sacrificed a lot to support me."

Xiaxia decided her one-time dream of becoming a writer and the effort to make friends were a waste of time.

She joined SMC's Scholars Program, where math instructor Brian Rodas "inspired me to look at serious math," she said. "I discovered a new interest: math and its application in economics." And when English professor Gordon Dossett encouraged her to write, she learned it was possible to have more than one dream in life.

Happy in her classes, Xiaxia found that "a good work ethic and patience could get me anywhere." But she also discovered a different 'math': no friends = no one to share successes.

So she sought social activities, and "learned what a genuine curiosity and open mind toward people and community could bring." She became a Supplemental Instruction Leader, joined the Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society, and found that the true value of seeking knowledge was "for sharing and empowerment."

Xiaxia volunteered helping homeless children at School on Wheels and working with at-risk dogs at Karma Rescue, which "helped me understand how everything is an outcome of social issues."

After a summer internship at a venture capital firm, Xiaxia will transfer to UCLA as a joint Economics-Math major.

CORSAIR OVERTURE & CONCERTO GROSSO

Santa Monica College is not unusual in playing Elgar's Pomp & Circumstance as the academic procession enters Corsair Field at commencement ceremonies each year. But the College has put its own unique musical stamp on commencement since 2000 by playing two pieces composed by SMC Music Professor Dr. David Goodman — one of which was written specifically for SMC.

Dr. Goodman's Corsair Overture was written in 2000 for SMC's 70th anniversary celebration and was premiered at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium by the SMC Symphony and the SMC Concert Chorale, conducted by Dr. James Smith. The text for this piece is an excerpt from Lord Byron's epic poem of the same name. Corsair, which means "pirate" in French, is the mascot of Santa Monica College.

Dr. Goodman's Concerto Grosso is from his score for the 1997 film Darkness Into Light, which won awards at the Houston International Film Festival.

Dr. Goodman has taught theory, musicianship, and composition at SMC since 1997. He was awarded the first SMC Ilona Katz Chair of Excellence in Music in 2001, and was appointed to his second Chair of Excellence in 2007.

FACULTY ACADEMIC APPAREL

The traditional attire worn at commencement had its beginnings in the Middle Ages, when the university first developed as an institution of higher learning. The most important centers of intellectual life in the 10th Century were the monasteries. The relative stability of the monastic life left monks free to develop systematic graded education for the first time in Western society.

In the United States, as a result of its English heritage, caps and gowns have been used since Colonial times. Around 1885, there was a widespread student movement in America to wear caps and gowns at commencement ceremonies. The graduating students felt a need for significant and dignified apparel for the occasion. The faculty members were quick to approve this practical and dignified graduation dress, and soon members of the faculty adopted the custom of wearing caps, gowns, and hoods.

The colors of the academic dress have a significance deeply rooted in the tradition of academic life and are specified by a uniform code maintained by the American Council on Education. Doctoral gowns are full, with bell-like sleeves. The front is marked by velvet panels, and the sleeves are marked by three velvet bars. While most gowns are black with black velvet, one variation is to replace black velvet with velvet in the discipline color. A second variation is a colored gown, usually of the university's colors. Master's gowns, also black, are longer than Bachelor's and Associate's gowns.

Caps are black and are usually mortar boards with tassels. Doctors of Philosophy wear gold tassels, usually of metallic thread; other degrees wear black or discipline colors.

All hoods specify the level of degree, the discipline studied, and the awarding institution. First, degree level is signified by the size of the hood, with Bachelor's smallest, Master's larger, and Doctor's quite large and of a different shape. The width of the velvet trim also conveys the degree. Second, the discipline is indicated by the color of the trim edging the hood to form the throat over the gown. Finally, the color of the hood's lining specifies the awarding institution. Discipline colors include white for arts, gold for science, light blue for education, dark blue for philosophy, and so forth.
